

Morris Jeff's Board of Directors opens nominations for members on an as-needed basis. All candidates (including parent representatives) are nominated by a Board member, a community member, school staff member, or the Head of School. The candidate sends his/her resume and expression of interest in serving on the Board, followed by a personal meeting with the Board Chair, the Head of School, and other available Board members. If the Board members determine that the candidate is a good match and has the skills needed at the time, the Board takes a public vote to accept the candidate at a subsequent meeting.
